ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1912. PRICE TWO CENTS.

BEAUTY AND STRENGTH FOR THE LIBRARY.

The dual virtues of unusual beauty and great strength in a piece of furniture was never better illustrated than by the Library Table whose counterpart is shown above. It is a special Titus offering.

The graining of the wood is brought out with remarkable clearness in the handsome

GOLDEN OAK WITH WAX FINISH.

The centre drawer is nearly twenty-six inches in depth—large enough to hold quite a mass of papers. The top measures three and one-half feet in length, thereby assuring plenty of room for one's books.

The Special "Titus Price" of the table is at least a third less than its selling price, which is bound to make this offering doubly interesting to those who seek really good things at bargain prices.

ROOSEVELT ABLE TO LEAVE MONDAY.

Physicians Say He is Convalescing Satisfactorily.

Impatient to Start and Preparations Already Under Way.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—"Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will leave Mercy Hospital for Oyster Bay Monday forenoon at 8:15 o'clock over the Pennsylvania railroad."

This was the announcement made today by Dr. Alexander Lambert, the colonel's family physician, after the examination physicians had issued that following bulletin describing his condition:

"7:30 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 19. Pulse 86, temperature 98, respiration 20. Breathing easier. Resting well, condition good. Convalescing satisfactorily.

"John B. Murphy, M. D.
"Arthur D. Bevan, M. D.
"Alexander Lambert, M. D.
"Scurry L. Terrell, M. D."

Colonel Roosevelt declared the news to be the best he had received since he first was assured the wound would not be fatal. "It has been very tedious waiting here," he told the physicians, "in spite of the fact that you gentlemen and the Sisters of Mercy have provided for me in a royal way. It is no fault of the care and attention I have had, that's certain, but as you know this is just the height of the campaign and every day lost means a golden opportunity of calling new attention to our cause gone beyond recall.

"Now, mother," he said, addressing Mrs. Roosevelt, "I'll be pretty good while I'm here, so that there won't be any reason for delaying our start home. Of course, I can't help being impatient, but I'll do as you say now, with as little protest as possible."

Preparations for the start began at once. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., arranged with members of the Progressive party in Chicago to look after the train arrangements and reservations for the party.

Tentative plans provide that he shall leave the hospital, not in an ambulance, but in a limousine automobile, which will drive slowly to the Union station. He will have a private car and a guard of Chicago policemen will be asked to accompany the train to the Illinois state line.

Secretaries McGrath and Martin gathered in halos the letters which have been received from all over the United States and arranged them for shipment by express to Sagamore Hill. Less than 200 letters have been answered and the others will be taken up by a special corps of secretaries when the Roosevelt family is in Oyster Bay.

Mrs. Roosevelt sighed with relief when she was advised by the doctors that it would safe and advisable that she break up her temporary household at Mercy Hospital.

"I think it is safe to say Colonel Roosevelt practically is out of danger," said Dr. Lambert, the family physician, and Dr. W. H. McCauley, who has had charge of dressing and caring for the wound, agreed. So satisfied were the physicians as to Colonel Roosevelt's condition that they directed the interne who appeared to extract a drop of blood for ascertaining its condition that he need not make the test until evening.

Last night was one of almost unbroken rest for Colonel Roosevelt. He fell asleep shortly after 11 o'clock and woke only once between then and after 7 today, when he announced himself ready for breakfast.

Colonel Roosevelt's wound gave him little trouble. The crisis in his illness now is believed to have been passed and his rapid recovery is confidently expected. Blood poisoning no longer is regarded as a possibility by his physicians. The only danger to be feared now is tetanus or lockjaw, but even this is believed to be remote.

The regular morning clinical record showed temperature 98, pulse 70 and respiration 18. This is practically where the figures stood for the night. Such changes as were recorded were considered of no importance.

With his breakfast, which he had with Mrs. Roosevelt, the colonel asked to be given the morning papers.

AMERICANS SUFFER LITTLE.

Millions of Dollars of Damage Done by Typhoon in Phillipines.

MANILA, Oct. 19.—Twenty-five million dollars is the estimated damage done by the typhoon which swept the Philippines October 16. The storm extended over a wide area, touching Surigao in the south, Tacloban in the north, and crossing Leyte, Bohol, Cebu, Negros and Panay. Reports from the various districts are incomplete and contain nothing definite concerning the rich sugar districts in Negros or the interior points in Cebu and Panay. Five small coasting steamers were driven ashore and were wrecked and 100 small sailing vessels were sunk or beached.

The army and navy have both joined the government in undertaking measures of relief. Rear Admiral R. F. Nicholson, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, has placed cruiser Cincinnati at the service of the government and has gone south with Brigadier General Harry N. Bandholtz, aide of the Philippine constabulary. The army authorities are sending doctors and men of the hospital corps, together with tents. The government is despatching one steamer to convey the doctors and another with supplies of food, while it is holding transport Warren in reserve. Apparently there were no casualties among American residents. The total number of dead among the natives has not yet been ascertained.

"TIGERS" LOOK FOR VICTORY.

Princeton Expects to Win, Without a Struggle, in Game With Syracuse.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 19.—Princeton, with her team a bit weakened, met Syracuse University on the football field here today. Several of the "Tiger's" Varsity men are in need of a rest and, as Princeton coaches expected to win today's game without a terrific struggle, the football tutors deemed it best to send in several substitutes. The weather is warm, with rain in prospect.

THREATENED TO KILL ROSENTHAL.

Rose and Webber Accused by Witnesses for Defense.

Former Declared Becker Had Nothing to Do With the Murder.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Jack Rose and "Bridgie" Webber, two of the state's witnesses against Lieutenant Charles Becker in his trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, themselves made threats against the life of the gambler at least a month before the murder, it was testified otday.

Webber, according to the testimony of Robert A. Smith, said: "I could cut Rosenthal's throat and then sleep with him all night."

Rose, according to another witness, said: "I am going to have Rosenthal killed."

It was testified also that Rose declared after the murder, "on the memory of his dead mother," that Becker had nothing to do with the killing of the gambler.

The testimony was elicited by the defense in efforts to prove that Becker is the victim of a conspiracy on the part of the four informers who have testified against him—Rose, Webber, Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps.

At the request of John McIntyre, Becker's lawyer, District Attorney Whitman produced, when court convened today, stipulations signed by the state, with Jack Rose, "Bridge" Webber, Harry Vallon and Sam Schepps. They were placed in evidence. The stipulations provided that if the four men mentioned would testify before the grand jury in the Rosenthal case they should not be prosecuted for the crime, "for gambling, extortion, or for any crime disclosed in the testimony." They should give "provided that they had "not fired a shot into the body of Rosenthal." The stipulation provided further that they should "tell the truth."

Mr. Whitman also handed Mr. McIntyre the original draft of Rose's confession, written in jail. It was read and placed in evidence.

EXPECTED MOMENTARILY.

Rebels at Vera Cruz Prepare for Attack by Federals.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 19.—The rebel forces in possession of this city have made every preparation for an attack by federal troops and this is expected to occur at any moment. Two columns of federals arrived late yesterday within 15 miles of the city boundary. The strength of the advancing federals is hardly greater than that of the rebel garrison and the government's troops are handicapped, as they cannot use artillery owing to the impossibility of transporting the cannon over the great sand banks surrounding the city. It is expected here that General Zozaya, in command of one of the loyal columns, will join the rebellion when he gets into touch with the rebel troops.

W. W. Canada, the United States consul here, accompanied by a committee composed of members of the consular corps, when out several miles in order to confer with the federal commander, but returned to the city without meeting the government troops. Perfect order prevails in the city, but there is great excitement, owing to the fear that the federals will attack in the course of today.

ATTACK ON DIAZ IMMINENT.

Fifteen Killed and Many Wounded by His Troops at Vera Cruz.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 19.—Fifteen persons were killed and many wounded yesterday at Vera Cruz by the troops of Felix Diaz, when administration sympathizers formed a parade and refused to disperse on the order of Diaz, according to reports which reached the capital today. It is also stated that Diaz yesterday called upon the cadets at the Marine College to surrender, but the cadets refused, declaring their loyalty to the government.

The war department advises that an attack on Diaz will be made within 48 hours. Troops are being rushed toward Vera Cruz. General Huerta, who will take command, is expected to leave at once.

The Galveston cable, the only line working through Vera Cruz, has been restored. Diaz permitted the repairs to be made, declaring that the interruption had been arranged with his knowledge.

Diaz is quoted as saying his reason for releasing the standard of revolt was that he saw his country about to become embroiled with foreign nations and his efforts would be directed toward preventing this. He said he would treat administration office holders with every consideration in the event of victory, which he considers assured.

MADERO'S MESSAGE.

President at Mexico City Says Federals Will Attack Vera Cruz.

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 19.—Two thousand federal troops will attack Vera Cruz today, according to a telegram received here by Alberto Madero, uncle of President Madero. The message comes from Ernesto Madero at Mexico City.

BULGARIANS SEIZE MUSTAPHA PASHA.

Other Turkish Towns Captured by the Army Corps.

Troops Congratulated and the Wounded Decorated by the King.

SOFIA, Oct. 19.—The Turkish town of Mustapha Pasha was taken last night by the Bulgarian army corps, which is marching on the great fortress of Adrianople. The Turks were repulsed all along the line. The Bulgarian troops have also crossed the frontier at other points and have captured the small towns of Tsarovosselo, Garnin and Djuma. Other columns of Bulgarian troops have penetrated through the passes of the Rhodope mountains and marched across the frontier into Turkish territory.

The advance of the Bulgarian troops on Mustapha Pasha was watched by King Ferdinand, several princes and General Savoff, the Bulgarian commander-in-chief, from a height at Yarmalya Blitz, on the frontier. The Bulgarians occupied one after another the fortified positions around the town of Mustapha Pasha, which itself finally fell into their hands. There was considerable fighting and after the battle King Ferdinand congratulated the troops and decorated many of the wounded men.

REPORT FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

Turks Approaching Sofia Through the Djuma Pass.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—One of the Turkish armies is advancing toward Sofia, the Bulgarian capital, through the Djuma Pass in the Rhodope mountains, while another is marching on Philippopolis through Tirnrsli, according to a news agency despatch from Constantinople.

MONTENEGRIN ARMY CHECKED.

Inhabitants of Three Servian Villages Massacred by Turks.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Turkish bands today massacred the inhabitants of three Servian villages southwest of the town of Krushevatz, according to a news agency despatch from Belgrade. The Turks crossed the Servian frontier from the Novipazar district, attacked the villages and then retired. The advance of the Montenegrin army on Scutari has been checked by the Turkish troops commanded by Essad Pasha according to a despatch from Saloniki. The Montenegrins are said to be in a critical position, as 10,000 Albanian tribesmen are co-operating with the Turkish troops.

TURKS DESTROYING RAILROAD.

Reported Capture of Prishtinia by Servian Troops Untrue.

BELGRADE, Oct. 19.—The reported capture of Prishtina yesterday by Servian troops was false, according to an official note issued here today.

The first Servian army corps commanded by the crown prince has crossed the Turkish frontier, near Ristovatz, where it drove back a force of Arnaut tribesmen and took the small town of Bujanovatz and a railroad station between Ristovatz and Ustrup. The Turkish troops are destroying the railroad.

SANCTIONED BY THE SULTAN.

Abdul Hmid to be Transferred from Saloniki to Constantinople.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 19.—The transfer of ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid from the place where he had been confined in Saloniki to Constantinople was sanctioned by the Sultan today, after the council of ministers had decided on the step. The press generally considered the change inopportune.

FISHING NOTES.

The Sakonnet River Oyster Company had 20 horse mackerel Friday and 10 today. Many of them were much smaller than the big fish usually caught off here. They are evidently now on their way south. Horse mackerel have been caught off the Nova Scotia coast in large numbers up to within two weeks. A few years ago the fish were not known so far north. The Hattie had one horse mackerel today and six barrels of mixed fish. The Winona had eight barrels today and F. W. Lawton two barrels. Schooner Marguerite Haskins is in this afternoon with 40 barrels of mackerel, her third catch of the week.

If it does not rain there will be a determined attack on the tautog Sunday, for the fish are biting well and people who have been waiting a long time will be out after them. The bait men have made arrangements to meet the demand for crabs, and all that is needed is good weather. Then there are little mackerel and frosters and smelt, all of which are biting.

The Outer Fountain Fishing Club's flagship Patience was out Friday with three members—Messrs. Jones, Hunter and Powel—on deck. They had some good fishing the tautog biting well.

It is a trifle early yet for codfish. A few rock cod of rather diminutive size have been brought in, but the tautog are running big.

Carriers of The Daily News are forbidden to roll or twist papers and throw them upon premises; are not allowed to have other boys with them without permission and have no papers to sell. Call 782 or 783.

A SATISFACTORY STATEMENT.

Bank Clearings Show Small Increases Over Former Years.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Dun's Review says today: "The record of bank clearings for the current week shows only small increases as compared with the same period of 1911 and 1910, but the exhibit is really highly satisfactory, since one less day was included in this week's returns at some points than in the two earlier years. Total exchanges at all leading cities, according to the figures compiled by the Dun's Review, amounted to $3,214,025,117, a gain of 3.6 per cent in comparison with the preceding year and of 9.1 per cent as contrasted with 1910."

IN THE ITALIAN LANGUAGE.

Progressive Meeting Addressed by Professor Langdon and Mr. Brangazio.

The Progressive party, which has been active in the speech-making line, went a step further Friday night and brought to Newport Professor Courtney Langdon of Brown University, nominee for lieutenant governor, who has declined to run. Both the professor and Mr. Pasquale Grangazio of this city addressed an audience in the Italian language. What they said of course, was not understood by the News reporter, who is not familiar with the language, but it was evident from the strict attention given that the speakers made a good impression.

Mr. D. Leroy Dresser spoke for a few minutes afterwards, outlining the policies of the party and urging the Italian people to work for its interests. Mr. Dresser has gone to New York on a business trip, and before returning will make one or two addresses in that city and in New Jersey, in behalf of the party.

MIDDLETOWN.

"Peace and Arbitration" Subject of Oliphant Club's Meeting Held With Its President.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The weekly meeting of the Oliphant Club was held Friday afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. Peckham, on Wapping road, who presented as her subject "Peace and Arbitration." The program was as follows: "The True Grandeur of Nations," by Charles Sumner; poem, "The Story of War," Dent's A. McCarthy, followed by prose with the same title; poem, "The Illusion of War," Richard Gallienne; poem, "The History of Peace," taken from Alfred Austin's "A Voice from the West." This was followed by a reading with the same title. Implements of war as used by infantry and artillery were exhibited with a brief description.

The ladies' trio of the Methodist Episcopal Church—Mrs. Ida M. Brown, Mrs. E. E. Wells and Mrs. John P. Peckham—sang two selections, accompanied by Miss Sadie L. Peckham, who also gave a piano number. The readings were taken from "Beacon Lights of Patriotism," by Henry B. Carrington, and "The Friendship of Nations" by Lucile Gulliver.

A number of guests were present. The house was decorated with dahlias and sprays of red partridge berries.

Mrs. Elbert A. Sisson will present as the subject for the next meeting "Postal Savings Banks and Parcels Post."

The School Committee held its monthly meeting at the town hall Friday evening. As required by law the teachers will be requested to conduct an examination in regard to the hearing and sight of all pupils under their charge.

Bishop Perry is to preach at St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial chapel, the latter part of this month.

Rev. Latta Griswold has just published the book on which he was engaged during the summer vacation. It is entitled "Decrine of Deal." He is also the author of short stories, among them "The Blue Girdle."

The political meeting to be held at the town hall by the Portuguese is to be followed by a dance.

The well at the town house is dry, an unusual occurrence. There is very little water to be obtained in this vicinity.

The supper at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Weaver, West Main road, Thursday evening, was unusually well attended. The menu included salads, cold meats, rolls, cake and coffee. The affair was conducted by Mrs. John A. Elliott and Mrs. Fred B. Coggeshall, assisted by the women of St. Mary's Church, and was for the benefit of the choir fund. Misses Gladys Coggeshall, Dorothy Sherman and Gladys Croucher acted as waitresses. A Victor machine furnished music. The house was decorated with cosmos and dahlias.

DIGGER FINDS TREASURE.

Pasquale Valenti, a laborer in New Haven, recently struck his shovel into a pewter pot containing 1,000 pieces of Spanish silver coin known as eight reals. The face value of the coins is about 60 cents each, but they are of dates between 1759 to 1780, and some may be worth more to collectors. Valenti fought his way from his fellow laborers with his treasure pot, and turned it over to the contractor, for whom he was digging a new cellar for a business block. Then he became hysterical and raced down the streets till captured and restrained. As soon as news of his discovery became current, treasure hunters filled the cellar and before the police could evict them had torn away the foundations already constructed for the new blocks.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR LEAK.

Principal Issue Involved in the Case of Sullivan Bros. vs. Mohr.

Evidence in Breach of Contract Case to Show the Quality of the Work Done.

In the case of Sullivan Brothers against Elizabeth F. Mohr and husband, in the superior court Friday, before Judge Baker, the following jurors were called: Richard Donahue, Newport; James G. Wordell, Tiverton; John T. Halpin, Daniel Rosen, Newport; John A. Pennot, Tiverton; John B. Donnlston, Newport; John Schlegel, Tiverton; William J. Christmas, Newport; William I. Sherman, Middletown; Raymond B. West, Newport; Alvin H. Pecklam, Jamestown; William F. Robinson, Newport; Morris L. Negus, New Shoreham; Alexander LeClercq, Jr.

Mr. Christmas said he was suffering pain and asked to be excused. He was allowed to go until Monday. Mr. Sherman and Mr. LeClercq were challenged, leaving but 11 jurors and the "barrel" was empty. A stipulation in writing was made to try with 11 and the case proceeded, Mr. Halpin being appointed foreman.

Mr. Sullivan opened. It is an action for breach of contract for plumbing, for $359, which has not been paid, and also for $7.50 "extras." The defense is a denial of the contract and also that not more than $209 is due, which sum had been tendered. Also there is a plea in set-off for damages to ceilings and walls, due to defective plumbing, $150. Plaintiffs say the work was tested and found all right, and up to last May there was no complaint. Title $7.50 is admitted.

James W. Sullivan, partner of Michael J. Sullivan, testified. Shown a letter addressed to Dr. O. F. Mohr he said: "That's all been paid for." Then he identified his bid of $359. The job was finished and tested and water was left on practically all winter. Mrs. Mohr said she was absolutely satisfied with the work. Witness said it seemed that the laying of a floor was purposely delayed to keep him from finishing his contract. He identified many letters asking for money, and endeavoring to make everything satisfactory. They were to Dr. Mohr in Providence, or his answers. Witness saw Mrs. Mohr. There were other plumbers employed, also.

Witness said handles were removed from the fixtures in the bathroom, after he put them securely in place, by somebody else. Had he changed his pipes as asked it would have caused burst pipes in winter. The leak which damaged the plaster was not the result of anything done or not done by his men. Somebody else had done things there, and started leaks. He denied knowing what suits Judge Burke offered him. Did not see three $100 bills. Refused it "for the simple reason that you said you knowed I wouldn't accept it."

He received a telephone message from Mrs. Mohr that there was a leak. Offered to go out and make things right. She said No; the doctor wouldn't have him there. Later she recalled this message, and he went. There was a small wet spot on the ceiling; he attributed it to the jar of the work done by somebody else. The floor layers left the bathroom till the last. Dr. Mohr was angry because plaintiffs would not take another contract, while there, at a figure less than this bid.

William Norberry, plumber, testified. He finished the job and tested it and everything was all right. It was done in a first-class manner—one of the nicest little bathrooms he ever saw. Is sure there was no leak; had the water turned on three months. He left the job the middle of May; has not been there since.

Daniel F. Murphy, plumber, went to the house to fix a leak. There was a drip back of the tub. He stopped it in a minute; tightened a coupling. Mrs. Mohr spoke about Dr. Mohr having something to do with changing one of the handles in the bathroom. The handles were then not the sort which had been put on by plaintiffs. At the rate the drip was dripping it would have gone through the ceiling in less than a day.

Michael J. Sullivan, one of plaintiffs, testified. He has been a plumber 30 years. The bathroom floor all pitched the opposite way from what it should. They received a letter saying the pipes were too high. Went out, and the floor was not interfering with the pipes. The floor was chipped a little—as is frequently done. Had the floor been level this would not have been needed. The pipes were laid in notches in the floor joist and with a pitch so water would run out when shut off in the basement. It was a first-class job.

Joseph Graham, Jr., paper hanger, testified. In January, 1912, he did work in the house; was there on ceilings until May. Water was turned on when they were testing out in February. Saw no leak up to the time he left. Went back in July, after a difference with Dr. Mohr. Then there was a leak, showing in the ceiling under the bathroom. It would take two men two days to put the ceiling in order and cost $15 or $20. The whole ceiling cost about $50, and was finished in April.

Joseph Graham took the stand. He has been in the painting and decorating business 10 years in Newport. Went to this job every other day. Water was on. No leaks showed. Witness thought his son put the price high; the ceiling could be made good as new for about $16. Did work in this bathroom. If Dr. Mohr had shipped the material for the bathroom wainscot sooner the work could have been done before it was.

Thomas B. Connolly, contractor and plumber for 30 years, testified. Dr. Mohr and Mrs. Mohr separately called him up and asked him to meet them at their house. Supposed he had been asked [to] a contract. Was much surprised to find the job half done—all to be shed in. This was in April and the job was ready for floors. It was done as well as witness would do it. He told Mrs. Mohr there was as much quality in his calling as in her husbands and Dr. Mohr would not call on a client of another doctor. Mrs. Mohr said there was no complaint about the work but there was another job, and an extremely high price had been asked for that, and they desired a counter-estimate.

In the early spring Dr. Mohr called at witness's office, twice, about the Sullivan Bros. contract. He wished witness to complete it. He said there was no complaint about the work done. Witness told him the code required that he must terminate business relations with Sullivan Bros. before witness could accept him as a client. Witness called Mrs. Mohr's attention to the bathroom floor, she said a new one was going to be laid.

Robert L. Oman, inspector of plumbing for 17 years and a plumber 25 years, testified that he would say the pipes were properly laid. Where the floor was not level it was necessary to cut into the floor joist, and this would do no damage. The leak described in this case would take from 15 minutes to a day to show—not more than a day. Changing a handle might loosen a union and cause such a leak.

Plaintiffs rested.

Judge Burke testified that he drew from the bank, July 10, 1912, three $100 bills and tendered them to Sullivan Bros., in full settlement of the contract of $350. They did not accept it.

Mrs. Mohr, defendant, testified. The drawing room is under this bathroom. Sullivan Bros. finished in May. In the latter part of June the leak "showed up." It was about a foot in size at first. Mr. Sullivan came and said the leak might have been going on for several weeks. She said: "It is up to you." He said there had been other plumbers there. She said only to put on the handles.

She had a firm work on the ceiling. It was all mildewed under the canvas. They dried, with flatirons, and put back the same canvas. She thought the leak is still leaking, and they expected Sullivan Brothers to pay for the ceiling. Had no one stop the leak. There is a large black stain on the ceiling. She desired an all-white effect in the bathroom and had the other plumbers put on handles. Those Sullivan Bros. put on were in compliance with the contract; did not ask them to change them. It was in the other bathroom that Dr. Mohr tried to put on a handle (didn't get very far with the job). The other plumbers also tried to stop the leak, but witness thinks it is leaking yet.

Mr. Appleton, 43 years a plumber, took the stand. He said a very small leak might go on for weeks before it showed. Sometimes it takes quite a rap to take off one of those handles. Knows nothing about those in question.

Christopher Davis of Providence, testified. In the employ of last witness he changed the handles, the second week in June. They came off easy. Saw no leak. Defendants complained of none. In July his attention was called to the stain on the ceiling and he found the leak in the cold water supply to the bathtub, back of the tub, nine inches from the floor. Could not see it—only feel moisture. He stopped it. He came to install the other bathroom. The stain on the ceiling he should say was four or five feet. He did not use a hammer to put on the handles. He "sweated" them on with a torch.

Mr. Hoefler, decorator, testified that he sent a man to make the ceiling right. He was not allowed to say what the man reported to him. Saw the place this morning. The entire ceiling of the drawing room and the library adjoining is now ruined. It would cost $90 to make the drawing room ceiling right—"would not 'move' for less than that sum.

At 4:45 the court interrupted and adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Monday.

The criminal docket has disappeared. Other cases marked for trial are: Joseph Sullivan vs. Thomas Barton, Samuel Smythe vs. Douglas H. Adams, William E. Stanhope vs. Douglas Adams, C. Leroy Grinnell vs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, Henry Bull, Jr. vs. Christopher E. Champlin, H. C. Arnold & Co. vs. Samuel Lack, F. Courtland Van Horne vs. Maxwell Sales Company. Several other cases are marked to be assigned.

"A CRY IN THE WILDERNESS."

New Story by Mary E. Waller Describes Life in Canada and New York.

"A Cry in the Wilderness," by Mary E. Waller, is a story which will hold the close attention of the reader. The interest centres about the plot, which is strange and peculiar. There is much mystery connected with the hero and heroine, and the denouement is startling and amazing. The characterization is keen and strong and the narrative well written. It is a book which deals somewhat with the seamy side of life, with those who have "missed their footing." Fortunately, for the reader's peace of mind, there are others who keep to the trail through the wilderness. Life is compared to a wilderness. "It's a wilderness, you know, for all of us; only there are so many paths through it, across it and up and down it—paths and trails and roads that cross and re-cross; so many that end in swamp and bog; so many that lead nowhither; so many that are lost upon the mountain. And so few guide posts—I wish there were more for us all." The "cry" in the wilderness is from a young woman, wandering by herself, alone and unprotected, with no friends or relatives to help her out. How she finally emerges into the radiant noonday is a tale which is long in the telling.

Marcia Farrell tells her story herself, how she felt the burden of life in struggling to earn her living in New York—the Juggernaut, she calls it. There comes pa day, however, when she turns her back upon the city and begins a new life in the wilds of Canada. Here she makes friends and for the first time finds herself in a home-like atmosphere. She expands under the genial conditions and becomes happy and contented, although more suffering is in store for her before she really comes into her own kingdom.

Gordon Ewart, Dr. Rugvie, Mrs. McLeod, and Jamie McLeod are among the characters. Jamie, Scotch to the core, impulsive, clever and intellectual, makes things lively by his chaffing and scrapping with Marcia, who has plenty of fun in her. Ewart is the owner of the Seignory of Lamoral, in the Canadian forest, where the McLeods and Marcia make their home. He is a combination of sternness and tenderness, a man whose life has not been cast in pleasant places, but has suffered and endured much. The mystery which clings to him gives him a romantic interest akin to that felt in Marcia.

The scenes are laid in New York and Canada. In the great metropolis the hard side of life is pictured, the city of crime and horror. But Canada—that is another matter. "O Canada, pays de mon amour," expresses the sentiment towards that land. The beauty of forest and of lake, the delights of the long winter, the fascinations of camp life in summer, the passionate love of the people for their country—all are portrayed by a sympathetic hand.

NEWPORT COUPLE ENTERTAINED IN BROOKLYN.

Friday evening a dinner and entertainment was given at Hickey's restaurant, Brooklyn, by Captain and Mrs. Lang in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Weeks, who were recently married in this city. Mrs. Weeks, who was Miss Anna Elizabeth Whitten of Newport, looked charming in a gown of white satin. As the bride and groom entered the dining hall Hickey's orchestra struck up the Mendelssohn Wedding March, after which the members of Hickey's cabaret, 50 in number, sang the chorus of "Now you're married and must obey," to the great amusement of those present. After dinner the party adjourned to the ball room, where the cotillion was led by Captain Chambers and Mrs. Lang. About 80 guests participated in the festivities, which terminated in the early hours of the morning.

The autumn days go drift'n' by at Pohick on the Crick,
The branches stand forth bare, where once the leaves were green and thick,
And though we miss the music and the blossoming so fair,
The campaign speaker tries to make us all forget our care.
He tells us of the duty that we owe our fellow-men,
And one man in particular he mentions now and then.
He sort o' tries to make us discontented with our lot,
Remindin' us of things old Pohick hasn't got.

We haven't automobiles that go racin' up an' down.
We haven't a police force to start shootin' up the town.
We haven't any airoplanes to give us thrills of fear,
Nor public works whose cost gives rise to rumors rather queer.
It's just a lot o' houses, barns and haystacks that it shows—
Our city with its days of toil and nights of sweet reposo.
I've seen the lectric lights and buildings high of stone and brick,
But you couldn't trade 'em all to me for Pohick on the Crick.

PERSONALS.

....A cane which belonged to Andrew Jackson has been forwarded to Governor Wilson by Chairman McCombs of the Democratic national committee, with a letter from George W. Oliver of Portland, Ore., the donor, requesting the governor to use it until after the election, then place it in the National Museum at Washington. Mr. Oliver wrote that the cane was given to his father by Andrew Jackson 67 years ago.

....Still young in spirit and active in spite of her years, Mrs. George H. Sherman of Seekonk celebrated her ninetieth birthday this week by cooking an old-fashioned New England dinner at the farmhouse where she has spent the greater part of her life, and inviting her family and friends to enjoy it. Mrs. Sherman lives in three rooms of the old Seekonk homestead, and does all her own washing and cooking. Her age has impaired none of her faculties, which are as sharp as they were 20 years ago. She is fond of reading, and spends much of her time with her books.

....President Taft is contemplating a trip to Panama to inspect the big canal. It is probable that after the election he will board a battleship with Mrs. Taft and leave the country for two weeks. If the trip is undertaken it will be so arranged that the President will be back in Washington in time to write his annual message to Congress before it convenes in December. Since he has been President Mr. Taft has inspected the canal twice, but last year, owing to his long tour through the West, he did not have an opportunity to make the Panama trip. In two years so much progress has been made by the engineers that the President is especially anxious to see the work.

....William Marconi's right eye has been removed to Dr. Bayardi, a noted Turin surgeon. Mr. Marconi, who was injured September 25 in an automobile accident near Borghetto, was removed to the hospital of the naval department at Spezia, where he was treated for several days. The severe contusions and swelling around the injured eye prevented a thorough examination until recently, when it was found that the optic nerve had been affected. A consultation of physicians was held, when it was decided to operate, the removal of the right eye being deemed necessary to preserve the sight of the other.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

IN THE PARTY PLATFORMS.

The platforms of the Republican and Democratic parties in this state, as adopted by the recent conventions, do not contain anything particularly new, either in the enunciation of principles or the enforcement of measures for action by the legislature. For the most part the planks consist of glittering generalities or the re-statement of old doctrines which every one knows are held by the respective parties as essential or desirable for the state or the country. As regards new legislation the Democrats again urge measures which they have been advocating for years, with practically no new one added, while the Republicans take a step forward in this direction. This they do by adopting the suggestion of Governor Pothier in his letter announcing that he would accept the nomination for another term, and incorporating in the platform planks favoring a 54-hour law for women and children and the creation of a state board of conciliation for the settlement of labor disputes. These are two measures which heretofore this party has been unwilling to endorse, but now they are in the platform and it is to be expected that they will be given attention at the next session of the General Assembly.

Last year the legislature, following the provisions of the platform of the Republicans, passed more advanced laws than had been adopted in this state at a single session for a long period, and if the present platform of that party is to be carried out in the Assembly, provided the Republicans again have control of that body, more of this modern legislation will be added to the statute books. In many instances this action is stealing the thunder of the Democrats, who have advocated some of these measures for many years but have had no opportunity to pass them, as they have not had control of the legislature. That party, however, still goes much farther in supporting bills of the advanced modern type, bordering upon what until within a few years has been considered quite socialistic, but many of which today are not regarded as very strongly of that nature.

From the platform and the action of the Republicans last year and the platform and probable action of that party this year, if it has a majority in the legislature, this state for the immediate future at least will keep well up with others in the passage of new laws according to modern ideas of what is for the public good, except such as are of an extreme type. If the Democrats should gain control of the law-making body they would be prepared to go to extremes in the matter of legislation and saddle upon the state some measures which would be too radical to suit the people of this still somewhat conservative commonwealth. There is now a strong sentiment here in favor of laws which have been tried in other places and found to work well, and the Republicans, though slow to do so, have awakened to an appreciation of the fact and for a few years past have been giving the people part at least of what they desire in this line. It is very doubtful, however, if Rhode Island is yet prepared for the acceptance of some of those measures affecting the public welfare which have been adopted in the West, and the Republicans are doing well to refrain from passing such laws, while the Democrats would probably make this their immediate business if they should have a majority in the legislature.

The 54-hour law and the creation of a state board of conciliation, however, are measures which the Republicans are wise in endorsing. The former is needed for the protection of women and children and the latter should prove an effective method of preventing or settling troubles between manufacturers and workmen. They are both directly in the interest of the people, and as such are of a kind which ought to be on the statute books in this state. While the Republicans have not exactly pledged themselves to pass these two measures if they win at the election next month, they have endorsed them in such a manner that it is expected that they will do so. Platforms are not always followed, but in this case it is probable that the Republicans will adhere closely to their platform if they secure control of the legislature again.

MONEY AND VOTES.

It would be a pity if the investigation into campaign funds should close without inquiring into the use made of these moneys, but as that might be thought to invade the prerogative of the grand jury to investigate crime it may not be undertaken.

Harriman believed that the fund he raised turned 50,000 votes. Was that number bought eight years ago at $5 a vote? The Republicans were apprehensive of defeat two or three weeks before the election, but they won. Was Harriman's fund efficient in the manner intimated? The Republicans had serious divisions in nine states and it looked a little before the election as if they would lose. Somehow the conditions were changed just at the last moment.

A somewhat similar situation existed in 1888. Cleveland seemed to be pretty sure of winning in New York. Over night almost the conditions were reversed in Brooklyn and the state was turned. At that time Quay conducted the Republican campaign and the character of his management was such that there was immediately all over the country a demand for the Australian ballot as a precaution against corruption. In that campaign one man raised $400,000 and put it into Quay's hands, and told him he didn't wish to know what he did with it. Evidently he made good use of it—from a purely political point of view.

Public sentiment is pretty strongly aroused now on the subject of money in elections. The sources of revenue are restricted. Corrupt practices laws exist in most states and a determined effort is being made to stop illicit work in politics. In England constituencies stained with bribery are disfranchised, and it may be necessary to do something of that sort here. We know now that Tammany Hall is not the only offender against morals in elections and both parties are determined to suppress illicit methods, but a good deal remains to be done. It is hard to believe that all the money spent for the various candidates before the conventions were held was spent legitimately.

WHERE TO BEGIN THE SUPPRESSION OF PERSONALITIES.

George W. Perkins remarks of the Republican and Democratic parties: "We think they should cease attacking the Progressive party and that they might explain their own platforms." It is an interesting suggestion, but we see no reason why it should be confined to the Republicans and Democrats. It might be well for the Progressive party to expound its own platform, telling us what it proposes to do, and refrain from denouncing Taft as a man who lacks confidence in popular government and desires the people governed by a small class of persons competent for the task, for which the great masses are not intelligent enough. It might also be as well for the party for which Perkins is working to refrain from denouncing Taft for betraying the cause of the people and going over to the political bosses and the money power.

The pacific and strictly lady-like methods recommended to the other parties by Perkins are not less applicable to the Progressives, who have characterized both the other parties as organizations of politicians and plutocrats, formed to exploit the people, prevent them from governing themselves and use the legislative and judicial machinery of the country for the purpose of benefitting the bosses and the rich men at the expense of the honest and industrious masses of the people. Perhaps Perkins thinks this sort of thing is expounding the platform of the Progressive party, but it bears a close resemblance to the methods of discussion which, when practiced by his opponents, he recognizes as highly obnoxious. The Progressive orators and papers have certainly not been behind those of other parties in personalities, in abuse and in language calculated to create alarm in timid minds.

Really, all this sort of thing has nothing to do with the lamentable attempt on the life of Roosevelt by a crazy man who believed he had seen a vision of McKinley, who designated Roosevelt as his murderer. At the same time we would like to have Perkins try his prescription upon his own party.

There is likely to be a serious split in the Canadian ministry over Prime Minister Borden's naval policy, which is based upon information furnished to him by the imperial government as a result of his conferences with the Admiralty while on his recent visit to Great Britain. This policy, which would mark Canada's entrance into world politics, calls for an immediate cash contribution of from $20,000,000 to $60,000,000 to the British Admiralty. Several of the cabinet ministers announce their determination to resign as a protest against the government's naval policy, demanding that the question be submitted to a vote of the people, and all sorts of complications are expected to follow the meeting of Parliament.

This country is certainly "going some" in invective when a man like Medill McCormick can deliberately say in his testimony before a Congressional committee that the attempted assassination of Colonel Roosevelt was incited by "falsehoods of character, assassins and liars like Charles D. Hilles." Such outrageous things are said every day in the present campaign and those who say them seem to think they lose nothing in the respect of the public.

A University of Pennsylvania professor thinks men ought to live to be 150 years old and to grow gray at 90 instead of 40 years. He says "If a man were to do the same as his forefathers and go up into the mountains and live as did the old tribes ages and ages ago, and were satisfied to exist sanely and without the luxuries of the present day, he would soon find that longevity was his portion." But what would be the value of life under such conditions?

The Republican national headquarters claims the election of President Taft, with 280 electoral votes against 132 for Wilson, and 119 "doubtful." The estimate does not give any votes to the Progressive candidates. It does no harm to make claims, but these do not win an election, although the confidence of the leaders may help a little.

New York city's budget of appropriations for 1913 will be $200,000,000, an increase of $11,000,000 over the present year. One item of the advance is $140,000 in larger salaries for policemen. New York is growing, but the expenses are also increasing, and apparently out of all proportion.

Events are moving rapidly in the Balkans. Montenegro, Servia, Bulgaria and now Greece have declared war against Turkey, and hostilities are already reported. There is nothing like having things started early; they may be ended the sooner.

The base ball season being over, football is coming into its own.

LAWRENCE'S REVERENCE FOR THE FLAG.

[Boston Transcript.]

It is gratifying to note the deep root that reverence for the flag has taken in the city of Lawrence. The manifestation of it last Saturday was not the result of a passing emotion. It has inspired Joseph Shattuck, a much respected citizen, to present the city, through the mayor, with a flag-pole under conditions of more than ordinary significance. It is to be built upon a granite base and an architect will draw the plans. One of the aldermen will give the land for the location. The cost of the gift will be about $5,000 and it will be a perpetual reminder to the citizens themselves and all who visit the city of a crisis in its history which was splendidly met by a demonstration of loyalty that has rarely been matched in a community of that size.

MISS LATHROP AND CHILD WELFARE.

[Isabel Joyce, in National Monthly.]

Congress appropriated $50,000 for the maintenance of the work of the children's bureau and although it has not yet been definitely organized—that is, in its finer details—its purposes are being quickly defined. Every condition surrounding the children of this country will be thoroughly investigated by the agents of the new bureau, who will in turn report through the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to Congress with a view to effecting legislation to correct whatever evils present themselves in the moral and physical surroundings of children. That it is going to take a long time to gather this information in its entirety nobody doubts, but as each condition manifests itself its immediate correction will be urged.

Miss Lathrop is a graduate of Vassar College and a member of its board of trustees. She has made a wide study of sociology, has worked in Hull House, Chicago's famous social settlement, has studied the conditions in hospitals, insane asylums, institutions for the deaf, dumb and blind, has gone into factories and other similar places where women and child labor is employed, and has gone down to the very bottom of conditions surrounding the poor and working classes in various sections of the country. She loves children and this attribute is the basis for her enthusiasm in their welfare. She knows all about base ball and can discuss the fine points of the game with the most rabid "fan" among the boys with whom her work has brought her into contact. She has a whispered word of comfort for the little tot who has broken her dolly and with the sturdy little boys whose interests are centered in steam engines and kites, she has all the intricacies of these mystifying inventions at her fingers' ends. She knows how to play and knows practically every child's game that was ever invented. Fifteen years ago she was appointed a member of the state board of charities of Illinois, a position she has held ever since. As a means of fitting herself more thoroughly to help the cause of child welfare Miss Lathrop has familiarized herself with the laws relating to children, not only those on the federal statute, but those of various states throughout the country.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Power of Public Utilities Commission to Regulate Street Car Rates Questioned.

Decision Against Town of Cumberland in Protested Tax Case—Forest Fire in Barrington.

The authority of the public utilities commission to regulate rates on street car routes, where the fares are subject to legislative contracts, may be decided by the supreme court as a result of the hearings on petition of Lakewood residents for a one-fare ride between that place and Providence. Attorney N. W. Smith of the Rhode Island Company declared, in a brief submitted to the commission Friday, that the acceptance by the Rhode Island Suburban Electric Company of the Warwick fare act of 1904, which authorized the company to charge 10 cents in that town where it did not increase an existing rate, was a contract which prevented a reduction of the fare without a joint agreement between the company and the state. He cited, in upholding this point, a contract between the Union Railroad Company and the town of Cranston in 1893, authorizing the company to charge 10 cents in that town, except in certain specified instances, and also called attention to the acceptance of the transfer act. Colonel P. H. Quinn, speaking for the Lakewood petitioners, declared that it was the duty of the commission to follow the practice of the superior court, now that the constitutionality of the act creating the commission had been questioned—to declare in favor of the statute, and certify it to the supreme court for a ruling. At the close of the reading of the brief by Attorney Smith and a summary of the points against it by Colonel Quinn, Chairman William C. Bliss of the commission announced that the matter would be taken under consideration.

The decision of Presiding Justice Tanner of the superior court, by which the Lonsdale Company should recover from the town of Cumberland the sum of $3,960, paid under protest to meet the assessment for town tax made September 15, 1910, on the addition built to the Ann and Hope Mill 10 years before, in that town, is sustained by an opinion of the supreme court. The Lonsdale Company brought suit against Town Treasurer Taft of Cumberland to recover the amount of this tax, with interest from the time it was paid. The case was tried before Presiding Justice Tanner without a jury and decision rendered for the amount claimed. The defendant town carried the case to the supreme court upon exceptions, contending that the town meeting held June 13, 1900, when the electors of Cumberland voted to authorize the town council to exempt from taxation the mill property in question, was not legally called; that the resolution adopted at that meeting was invalid; that the vote of the town council under the resolution adopted by the taxpayers did not grant the exemption for any definite period, and further, that if it should be held the exemption period was for 10 years the tax assessed September 15, 1910, was not within that period. The town council passed its vote September 6, 1900. The tax involved was assessed September 15, 1910. Previous to that year, the annual assessment had been made August 15. No steps were taken, however, the court says, to bring this property into existence until September 17, 1900, two days less than 10 years before the assessment of the tax for the recovery of which the suit was brought. "We are therefore of the opinion," says Mr. Justice Sweetland in writing the supreme court opinion, "that said assessment of September 15, 1910, was within the period of exemption granted by the town council." The other exceptions raised by the town to the decision of the lower court are overruled and the case is remitted to the superior court with direction to enter judgment upon the decision.

Almost the entire central part of the town of Barrington, where there are thick woods, has been on fire for the past four days, and instead of the trouble diminishing from repeated efforts of bands of citizens, the flames, driven by the wind, spread over large areas. The material damage is not great in the wake of the flames, but often dwellings and farm buildings are menaced, as were the buildings of St. Andrew's Industrial School late Friday afternoon. The fire, which broke out three days ago in the Nayatt woods, burned to the northward, as the wind was southwest, and Friday forenoon crossed the tracks of the trolley line of the New Haven railroad. Fanned by the wind, it ascended the hills, stripping the young timber and scrub growth on all sides. Bands of men organized Friday and the day previous, and assisted by railroad section hands in the vicinity succeeded in arresting the progress of the blaze before it reached the Daniel Kirby farm building at Maple avenue. In the same manner, late in the afternoon, the blaze, which had worked northward from Nayatt, was put out before it reached within a quarter of a mile of St. Andrew's School buildings.

Winston Churchill of New Hampshire, novelist and political reformer, will be one of the principal speakers at the session of the missionary council of the Episcopal church, to be held in Providence next Tuesday and Wednesday at St. John's Church. He will deliver an address on "The Debt of New England to the Missionary," at the Tuesday evening meeting. He will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Cross during his stay in Providence. Tuesday afternoon Mr. Churchill will speak at Churchill House on "The Political Situation."

Congressman George H. Utter has left his home in Westerly and returned to Washington, where he will consult his physician regarding his health, which has become impaired as the result of much traveling in connection with the national campaign. Mr. Utter will probably confine his future activities in the campaign to his own district.

Marsden J. Perry of Providence was chosen chairman of the executive committee of the Norfolk Southern Railroad Company at the organization meeting of the board of directors. Philip Allen, also of Providence, is a member of the board.

BUTTER FROM COTTONSEED.

[Leslie's]

Experience has shown that it is impossible to market a substitute for butter without having it taxed almost to death. From the sixteenth annual convention of the Interstate Cottonseed Crushers' Association comes the announcement that a way has been found to produce a new butter substitute, made from cotton oil, which might be sold at 18 cents a pound retail. With a good creamery product at double or more than double that price, a cheap and wholesome substitute should be eagerly welcomed. And if the legislatures would refrain from placing a deadening tax upon it, it would bring great relief. There is no justification for placing a tax upon any food substitute, provided the article is guaranteed pure and wholesome, and the public is kept fully informed that it is buying a substitute. Unfortunately this simpler rule has not been followed with oleomargarine, and we very much fear it would not be followed with cottonseed butter should it be put on the market.

FOR GOLD MEDALS.

Ten Contestants in Novel Entertainment Under W. C. T. U. Direction.

Awards Made for Best Recitation and Solo at the First Methodist Church.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union "medal contest" is evidently quite the thing, although until Friday evening the entertainment was practically unknown here. It has spread around the world and even to the isles of the sea. Rhode Island has had 61 of these contests and the Sunday School Union is taking it up. It is quite a comprehensive plan, all being in a series. The first five contests award silver medals. The recipients then compete for gold medals. When five have been awarded those so decorated receive a grand gold medal costing $10. Those receiving this compete for a diamond medal, and beyond that is the grand diamond medal. In recent years solo singing has been introduced and medals given for that. The first grand gold medal for singing was given in Providence, and the second was awarded here, Friday evening. It was designed by a Woonsocket girl, Esther Cook, now in Pembroke, who was specially presented to the audience and warmly applauded.

The meeting, held in the Sunday School room of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, was called to order by Miss Mary Hazard, president of the local Union. After prayer by Rev. Joseph Cooper, Mrs. George S. Perry, state superintendent of medal contests, took charge and explained the idea. The entertainment had close attention throughout. Each contestant was received cordially and heartily applauded, and it was not easy to decide which was best. All wore medals, proving that they had won in previous contests. The judges were Messrs. F. P. Weber and L. W. Crandall and Miss Lillian Maher, for elocution; and Mr. H. S. Hendy, Miss Marian Dowling and Miss Janet McG. Buchanan, for music. The first applause was a spontaneous burst from the men present, when Mrs. Perry requested the women to remove their hats.

The first contestant was Mr. Samuel Sarquist, whose address was "An appeal to the Voter." Miss Cora Collins sang "Go Speed the White Ballot." She received the medal.

No. 8 (no names are given until the judges award the medals) was a recitation, "Our Christian Duty." Next was a solo, "March of the Patriots." Miss Nellie Loring was a close competitor for the medal and received honorable mention. She recited a telling story—"Judge Morse's Reason." No. 6 was an alto solo, "I Hear the Voice of Wondrous Love."

Miss Bertha Congdon of Wakefield took the medal for her graphic description "The three Homes" on New Year's Eve. Miss Nellie Prout received honorable mention for her camp-fire song, "I cannot drink tonight, boys." A recitation "Frances E. Willard"—the best loved woman of America—was well given. A good song, "A Saloonless Nation in 1920" closed the regular program.

While the judges retired to consult, Miss Helen Blake, who received the first gold medal given, was called for and received with loud applause. She showed what a past master could do reciting "Poverty and the Saloon," a very strong appeal.

The medals were awarded by Mr. H. A. Titus, who had been requested to make "breezy remarks." He succeeded admirably, and was told it was now up to him to have a contest in his Sunday School.

The contestants not already named were Misses Emily Potter of Peace Dale, Esther Cook, Alice Hill, Winona Perry and Georgia Ross. All were of normal school or college age.

TO TEST FOREIGN SHELLS.

Part of Navy's Contract Awarded to English Firm and the Rest to American Bidders.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop announces the award of a contract for 500 12-inch armor piercing projectiles to Hadfields Steel Foundry Company, of Sheffield, England. The price is $187, which is $153 less than the lowest American bid. The 500, however, is only a part of the total shell contracts which, as usual, are distributed among American firms. Officially it is stated merely that the Navy Department desires to test the British shells, but unofficially it is learned that the department is disposed to inquire into the reasons for divergencies between American and foreign prices which exceed the difference in cost of production.

The question of foreign materials by no means ends with projectiles. The American navy today is built of American materials almost throughout. The Panama Canal bill, however, puts a new aspect on future construction. It provides that all materials of foreign production necessary for the construction or repair, equipment or outfitting of vessels built in the United States may be imported into the United States free of duty. This means that the Newport News, New York, Fore River or Cramps shipbuilding companies may buy abroad the materials necessary for the construction of battleships.

An official of the Navy Department was asked whether the department felt it would be justified in embodying in the contracts for new war ships a stipulation that they must be built of American materials. Speaking quite confidentially he said he did not. The question has not yet officially come before the department, but it soon will. To what extent the shipbuilders are preparing to avail themselves of the free trade clause is not known here.

In addition to large awards for target shells, which are comparatively simple, the following awards for armor piercing projectiles were made:

To the Bethlehem Steel Company—4,000 6-inch projectiles at $35 each, 1,000 8-inch at $62 each, 1,000 12-inch at $279.60 each and 500 14-inch at $500 each.

To the Washington Steel and Ordnance Company—2,500 6-inch projectiles at $31 each, 5,000 7-inch at $64 each, 2,605 8-inch at $96 each 500 12-inch at $277 each and 1,000 14-inch at $403 each.

To the Carbide Steel Company of America—1,000 12-inch projectiles at $279.75 each and 500 14-inch at $500 each.

Contracts for 6,500 common shells were awarded to the American and Brass Manufacturing Company, of Ansonia, Conn.; for 1,000 target shells to the Trenton Company, of Trenton, N. J., and 6,000 common shells to the E. W. Bliss Company of Brooklyn.

THE CHANGING TIMES.

Illustrated by the Sale of Horse-Drawn Delivery Wagons and Cabs Now Replaced by Motors.

Fred W. Greene this morning had a sale which shows the changes of time. It was on Washington square and there was quite a collection of horses, carriages, wagons, harnesses, some cows and other articles. It was noticed that the name of P. Buckley & Sons was on the most wagons. It seems this firm is discarding all its horse-drawn vehicles and has installed motor cars to do the delivery work. Then there was James H. Boyle with his cabs, cab horses and accessories; he is disposing of them and is around in a big new touring car. Times have changed, but the cab men are slowest to change.

Several of the dealers have entirely discarded horses for delivery work or will do so. Several have had automobile delivery wagons for some time and are to shift from horses entirely, and that is what Mr. Buckley is doing. This is 1912, coming close to 1913, and some dealers say that, however much they liked horses, the distances are such and the demands made by customers on delivery so varied that horses can no longer do their work, compared with machines.

PLANS FOR THE Y. M. C. A. FAIR.

The committees in charge of the Young Men's Christian Association fair are working to make it the biggest success possible. Men will begin, as soon as the Monday night entertainment is over, to prepare the booths in the auditorium, and Wednesday the women will arrange their tables for fancy articles, cake, candy, homemade preserves, books, etc. The committee on flowers and agricultural produce will have in the men's lobby the flower booth and tables for potted plants, vegetables, poultry, butter, etc. Another committee will install the novelties in the boys' lobby, including entertainment features for children, interesting contests, fortune telling, etc. In this room will be occasional moving picture shows, both afternoon and evening.

The chicken salad and chowder suppers will be up to the standard of the Auxiliary. The athletes are preparing for a gymnasium entertainment which will include other interesting features in addition to athletic stunts. The stage in the auditorium will be arranged as a tea room. This feature will appeal to many who wish to rest between events.

THE MARIETTE TO GO TO BERMUDA.

Sloop yacht Mariette of Boston, Mr. Alfred Johnson, which has been laid up for the winter at the shipyard, has been sold to George W. Minon of Bermuda. The sloop was hauled out on the ways Friday and today men are rigging her for her departure for her new port. Mr. Johnson has had some pleasant cruises in the Mariette, which is a yacht built on the lines of a fisherman, but he is now looking for a small and able schooner, suited for more extended cruising. The Mariette has received a new bowsprit and other repairs at the shipyard.

MR. SLOCUM'S PROMOTION.

Mr. William G. Slocum, son of Mr. William S. Slocum, for the past six years with the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, the last two years as the headquarters office in New York, has been assigned charge of a new district of telephone service, including the southern peninsula of Michigan and parts of Ohio and Indiana, with headquarters at Detroit. He will leave for his new field of service next week, but before he goes he will it his father here, being expected Sunday.

THE WAITING ROOM RE-CONSTRUCTION.

The work of re-constructing the street car company's waiting room at the corner of Spring and Franklin streets will show more rapid progress now that a new foundation wall has been put in on the south and things are ready for the re-building of that of the structure. There is some criticism to be heard because it is simply a re-construction, but others are expressing their pleasure that so far as possible the original lines are to be preserved, thus another old building will be saved. It is well known that the old types of buildings are still an attraction for many visitors.

DAUGHTERS OF THE THISTLE BAZAAR AND SOCIAL.

A bazar and social was given Friday evening in Music hall by the Daughters of the Thistle. Five tables for the sale of articles were arranged on one side, Mrs. J. Brown, Sr., being in charge of the tea and cake, Mrs. Walter J. Langley of the candy and lemonade, Mrs. W. Fisher of the fancy table, Mrs. Thomas Clarke of the domestic table and Miss J. Gillies of the Scotish souvenirs, Mrs. Harpin had charge of the grab bag.

The hall was decorated with flags and the Scottish colors, red and yellow, and the tables with flowers and flags. The remainder of the hall was given up to dancing, in which a large number participated, Knowe's orchestra furnishing music. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. James M. Gillies, Mrs. Adams Hempsted and Mrs. Thomas Clarke.

THEIR SPECIAL DAY.

Grammar School Boys of the Y. M. C. A. Have Celebration.

Athletic Events, Speech by Secretary Gibson, Game Tournament and a Supper.

Today is a special occasion with the grammar school boys of the Young Men's Christian Association. It began with an athletic meet this morning in the gymnasium, conducted by Physical Director Slocum. Before the events had proceeded very far Mr. H. W. Gibson, state boys' secretary, arrived. The program was suspended for the time being in order to hear Mr. Gibson, who had promised to speak to the gymnasium class.

The 35 or 40 boys took seats on two of the mats on the floor and listened to Mr. Gibson's talk with close attention. His topic was "Some boys I have met". He told about one boy, whom he said he would call Billy Blue, who thought everybody had it in for him; about Georgie Give-up, who never finished anything he undertook; about the impulsive, Sum Sly, who was always doing under-handed, sneaky things; Charlie Courageous, who was not afraid to stand up for a principle, and Danny Dependent, who could always be counted upon to do what he was asked to do. Mr. Gibson said it would be interesting to know how the boys in his audience should be classified. He was sure, however, that they all wished to be in the class with Charlie Courageous or Danny Dependent, and he would leave it for them to decide which class they were going to be in.

General Secretary Chapin invited all the boys to bring their friends this afternoon to hear the address of Mr. Gibson on "Chums". This is one of the popular addresses which Mr. Gibson is always called upon to give whenever he speaks to a new gathering of boys.

The athletic events were run off in the gymnasium, starting at 10 o'clock and lasting until 1. Physical Director Slocum conducted the meet, assisted by Messrs. Wood and Nicholson. The results were as follows:

Three broad jumps—Heavy-weight division, Wheatland first, Blues second, Smith third; light-weight, Jack Wood first, E. Berry second, Dillon third.

Potato race—Heavy-weight, Wheatland first, Edwards second, Libby third; light-weight, Berry first, Dillon second, Braley third.

100-yard dash—Heavy-weight, Libby first, Smith second, Libby third; light-weight, Berry first, Holm second, Braley third.

100yard dash—Heavy-weight, Libby first, Blues second, Smith third; light-weight, Berry first, Wood second, Sutherland third.

High jump—Heavy-weight, Blues first, Smith second, Wheatland third; light-weight, Moore first, Sutherland second, Holm third.

This afternoon a game tournament was conducted, including ping pong, cue roque and carom. At 6 o'clock the high school and employed boys will tender a supper to Mr. Gibson, who will deliver an address. The serving of the supper will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Hunnicutt and several other young women.

NEWS FROM THE FLEET.

Ships Finish Full Power Trials—Endurance Runs Interrupted—Movements of Destroyers.

The Minnesota, South Carolina, Georgia and North Dakota, which sailed from Newport Friday morning, have finished their full power trials and the South Carolina has completed her endurance run. The Minnesota, after running 20 hours on her endurance, was slowed by fog and the North Dakota made only a short run because of fog. The Georgia ran nine hours and then slowed down because of leaky condensers. She will proceed with her standardization on the Rockland course, as will the other ships. The interruption of the endurance runs will cause them to be started again.

Torpedo boats Dupont, Morris and Blakely have returned to the Torpedo Station from New York, where they participated in the naval review.

Torpedo boat destroyers Reid, Flusser, Lamson, Preston and Smith, comprising the first group of the Atlantic torpedo flotilla, have been ordered placed in first reserve at the navy yard, Charleston, S. C., upon arrival or as soon thereafter as practicable.

Destroyers Roe, Drayton, Paulding, Terry and McCall, comprising the Second group, are at Peekskill Depot, N. Y.

Torpedo boat destroyer Fanning has returned, making four of the Fifth group here, ready for their work next week.

The Arkansas and Virginia are still at anchor off the Jamestown shore.

SCENIC RAILWAY PROPOSED FOR THE BEACH.

A representative of the firm which constructs the Thompson scenic railway was in town Friday, conferring with officials of the beach association. This is considered the safest of the various railway attractions and is the type in use at the leading resorts. There is a feeling that something in this line of amusement should be provided at the beach and the subject will be taken up during the winter, together with many other ideas.

This afternoon the stockholders of the Newport Beach Association held a meeting, at which they heard a report of the past season's operation and elected officers for the ensuing year.

NURSES SENT TO TURKEY.

German Officers to Participate in War Must Resign from German Army.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—The German Red Cross Society today sent a surgeon and 23 nurses to Turkey to assist in caring for the wounded. German officers employed in the Turkish service have been forbidden to participate in the war unless they resign their commissions in the German army.

RED SOX A GENEROUS TEAM.

About $2,000 from Their Checks Set Aside for Gifts.

BOSTON, Oct. 19.—The Boston Red Sox base ball champions of the world are a generous team. Almost the first thing they did with the money secured on the checks for $4,024.70, which each received as his share of the world series proceeds, was to set aside a sum for gifts. The players pooled about $2,000 for this purpose.

A diamond studded watch fob was sent to Eddie Cicotte, now of the Chicago White Sox, who was a Red Sox pitcher until traded in mid-season. Jerome Kelley, ground keeper at Fenway Park, was given $175; Edward Riley, the club's clerk $500 and John Harrison, also a clerk, received nearly as much; Joe Quirk, the team's trainer, was given $300, and the man who washed the players' uniforms, the head usher at the park, and others were well remembered.

Little Jerry McCarthy, the club's mascot, was first given an entirely new wardrobe of clothing, the finest to be secured for a boy and then was given a bankbook, showing a deposit to his credit in a bank.

DEPRESSION IN BUSINESS.

Departure of Greeks from Manchester Felt in the Loss of Trade.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 19.—Spruin street in this city, the principal thoroughfare of one of the largest Greek colonies in the East, is experiencing a period of business depression, as a result of the war in the Balkans. Before it became apparent that Greece was about to become involved in a war with Turkey, there were between 4,000 and 5,000 Greeks in Manchester. More than 1,000 of these, members of the Greek army reserve, have left for their native country. Leaders of the colony say that probably as many more will go as volunteers. A number of those who have gone have disposed of their stores, coffee houses or other business establishments and the remaining business men in the colony are feeling the effect of the exodus in loss of trade. The Greeks have dressed well and have been liberal spenders.

THE STATE CORN SHOW.

Contests for Boys and Girls Arranged by Board of Agriculture to Encourage Industry.

Plans are nearly complete for the state corn show, to be held in Providence November 8 and 9. At the same time and in the same hall the girls who have entered the contests in bread making, canning and sewing will have samples of their work on exhibition. Handsome prizes will be given for the best exhibits. These contests will be conducted under the auspices of the Rhode Island College and the State Board of Agriculture.

In the adult corn-growing classes prizes are offered for 10-ear and single-ear samples, 80-ear exhibits, stalks with ears attached, sweepstakes and best acre contests. Prizes range from $2 to $30.

In the boys' corn-growing classes there are prizes for 10-ear and single-ear exhibits, stalks and ears, sweepstakes, best exhibit from a grange, best exhibit from a school, best exhibit from a club, best essay, corn judging, and several special classes. Prizes from $2 to $25.

In the girls' classes prizes are offered for the best three loaves of bread, best three jars of tomatoes, best house apron and the best essay. Prizes from $2 to $10.

The object of these contests is to create a deeper interest in agriculture by encouraging the boys to take part in the raising of some important agricultural crop, such as corn. The best methods of culture and seed selection are taught all who enroll in the contests.

The contests are not arranged for rural dwellers only; city boys and girls may also enter. The work provides industrial training.

Farmers are also invited to demonstrate that agriculture in Rhode Island is not a back number.

—Mr. W. Storrs Wells returned Friday evening from New York.

—Mr. Maxson Alger of the Naval War College is spending his vacation in Washington.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Hilliard Benjamin have closed "Brent Lodge" for the season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Barker have returned to their Bull Street residence, after spending the summer at Jamestown.

—Mr. and Mrs. Archibald C. Sherman have returned from a visit to Gettysburg, Luray Caverns, Washington and other places.

—Simeon Hazard has sold for Bessie M. Brown and others the estate on the northerly side of Thurston avenue, No. 27, to George P. Lawton.

—The football game scheduled between the Training Station and Fort Adams teams has been called off, the majority of the players at the Station being ordered away.

—The watering carts gave Thames street a good flushing this morning. The dampness of the autumn was on the street, making it slippery with the slime already there, and the water was needed.

—Mrs. Andrew M. Moreland, who occupied the E. R. Thomas cottage during the past summer, is guest of her sister, Mrs. George T. Mayre, in Washington until Tuesday, when they will go to New York on their way to Europe.

—Miss C. Ogden Jones entertained at luncheon at her Ochre Point residence Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson gave a dinner at their residence on Narragansett avenue and Mrs. J. J. Brown entertained at the Muenchinger-King in the evening.

—At its meeting Friday evening the recently elected officers of Court Friendship, No. 31, Foresters of America, were installed by Deputy Grand Chief Ranger H. C. Bennett, assisted by Past Chief Ranger Alexander Nicol as grand herald.

—The roller rink has been well attended, since the announcement of the "graceful skating" contest, by young people of both sexes, to practice for the occasion and as there are many excellent skaters in Newport the judges will probably have their troubles in making a decision. It is the intention of the management to hold various contests during the season.

BETTING ON THE ELECTION.

Why the Odds Are in Favor of Wilson in the Present Campaign.

The Roosevelt Vote Uncertain—European Wars Make Prices Higher In This Country.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—It is what Republican political observers say privately that seems to tell the tale of the present campaign and probably accounts for the betting odds in favor of Governor Wilson. The men who came from New York Massachusetts, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and northwestern states will whisper about conditions, will take a friend into a corner and tell him things, will spread a lot of gloom everywhere, and then appear in a newspaper interview telling how Republican chances are daily improving. The private tips, however, are evidently what grips the betting men, and that is why the odds are in favor of Wilson.

The uncertain quantity is the Roosevelt vote. No one knows just where his votes are coming from, whether all from the Republican side or from both parties. The Democrats assert that Roosevelt will not begin to have the number of Democratic votes which left Parker in 1904 and point out that if Wilson receives the same number of votes as Parker, with Taft and Roosevelt dividing that which was cast for Roosevelt eight years ago, Wilson will have an easy victory.

The men who make it a business to try to find out what is going on in politics acknowledge that they cannot yet tell what the voters will do in regard to Roosevelt or whether his vote will be abnormal or merely the nominal vote cast by enthusiasts.

It is amusing to read in the political prognostications about "the silent vote." For a score of years I have observed that these writers hid behind the "silent vote" when they did not like to make predictions or could not find out what was going on. There has not been a campaign for 20 years in which they did not make it a point that the "silent vote" would decide the contest.

And why not? With 14,000,000 voters in the country can any one expect them all to be yawping out what they will do? The "silent vote" is no more "silent" this year than before. The political forecasters have a little more difficulty now because there are three candidates in the field, but if they will get down to their work they can find out just how the election is going, and the "silent vote" will have no more to do with it than in former years.

There was a time when this country was inclined to welcome war in the Balkan states or anywhere else in Europe. It meant higher prices for farm products and consequently better times. But with the present cost of living, due largely to the high prices for farm products when they reach the consumer, there is mighty little desire for war in foreign countries. We don't want to see prices go any higher.

Congressman Slayden of Texas says that the vast expenditures of money in campaigns, as shown by the Clapp investigating committee, is causing a great deal of talk throughout the country and much adverse comment, although it has been known for many years that Jamieson campaign funds were raised every election.

"The people are beginning to ask whether it is possible for a poor man to hold office unless some one buys it for him," said the Texas Congressman, "and that is a question which agitates those of us who haven't any particular amount of money to spend. At almost any time a rich man may come along and defeat a man who is depending upon his work for the people to keep him in public life. How can it be stopped? is the question."

Only routine business will be transacted in the government departments from now until after the election. There will be one exception—the Thanksgiving proclamation will be issued before the election. This method has been adopted by all Presidents who were seeking re-election or were vastly interested in the election of their successors. Beyond that there will be only such business as the regular clerks can handle.

Several days ago a man from England marveled because there was so little interest in politics with a Presidential campaign in full blast. Being an Englishman, he could not understand that at the time he spoke the base ball season had not closed.

"If Sulzer is elected governor of New York," remarked Congressman Murray of Massachusetts, "watch him reach for the Presidency. And he will come pretty near making good too, for he has many friends all over the country."

Thus writes Mrs. Howard Bailey, of Bellevue, Mich. We can point to thousands of instances where the proper use of Herpicide has been followed by a remarkable growth of hair.

Newbro's Herpicide is the original remedy which kills the dandruff germ and stops falling hair.

Roosevelt Defines Attitude on Industrial Commission.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Colonel Roosevelt, after a long conference with Francis J. Heney of San Francisco, today made clear for the purpose of publication his attitude on the industrial commission. His announcement came from the hospital here and was in reply to writings of Louis Brandeis and speeches of Governor Wilson, in which Colonel Roosevelt is accused of "endeavoring to legalize monopoly" by a commission "which would have police power to say to a favored corporation 'You are legal' and to an unfavored corporation 'You are illegal.'" Mr. Heney brought the statement from the colonel's room, quoting the Progressive candidate in part as follows:

"I am in favor of new laws or of the amendment of the Sherman law to provide such supervision as is contained in the La Follette-Lenroot amendments; I would put in the statute provisions which would say 'This thing is right' or 'That thing is wrong'; I would not have left to the guess or judgment of any man or men the determination of what was wrong or what was right, or 'reasonably wrong' or 'reasonably right.'

"If for instance, a corporation should be found crushing out competition by refusing to sell when the patron bought of competitors, or by underselling in districts, or in the dozen of other ways that Congress should learn were being practiced and should say were illegal, I would have the statutes say point blank, with no loophole for escape, that the corporations were guilty."

"I would have," continued Mr. Heney's quotation of Colonel Roosevelt, "the commission enforce the law much as the Interstate Commerce Commission enforces the railroad rate and rebate laws, with power to see that the statutes were obeyed.

"I would have the commission empowered to put men on the books of a corporation whose acts were questioned, so that the responsibility of that corporation and its methods of conducting business would be at all times within the view of those whose duty it is to enforce the law.

"I find I am accused of wanting to give the commission the power to fix prices. I do not want now to provide that. I fancy the commission would be so busy for a time in enforcing laws that it would not want to concern itself with prices.

"In short," concluded Mr. Heney's quotation of Colonel Roosevelt, "and urging that the widest publicity be given my Milwaukee speech in which I defined this thing, I would have Congress provide a law on its books that would define what was wrong so that a corporation would know before engaging in any act whether it was or not violating the law.

"Then I would provide this industrial commission with funds and power to put men on the books of the corporation so that the government would know whether the law was violated, and the further power to compel corporations to observe the law.

"That would put corporations under as complete control as the railroad situation is today. The railroad commission, by its power for the things I suggest for the industrial commission, practically has eliminated rebating and other ills of railroading. The commission would have a wholesome effect on corporative business."

The San Francisco attorney added an explanation of one feature of the proposed amendments to the Sherman anti-trust act, of which he was the author and which he said Colonel Roosevelt fully approved. He explained:

"Under the present plan, when the law allows an individual to recover triple damages for injury by a monopoly, it's 'up' to the individual to prove the whole case. How absurd is, say, the case of the Standard Oil Company, which cost the government several million dollars.

"My plan is this: When the government obtains a judgment against the corporation, a certified copy of that judgment shall be admitted as evidence in an individual suit for recovery and it shall be conclusive proof that the accusations contained in the original suit by the government were proved. The individual then would have to prove only that he was damaged by the acts declared proved, and how much he was damaged."

RAIN PROMISED.

Badly Needed, as the Wells are Dry and the Water in the Ponds is Low.

The promise of rain which has been held out for several days seems on the verge of being met, for about 2:30 it began to rain, easily and softly at the start. A good deal is needed. The district is behind this year, and especially in the last six months, and a real rain would do much good, provided it did not come down too fast. Wells are dry, all streams are dry and the ponds are close to the period when they will look dry; they already look far from full. Despite the pumping from the Paradise ponds the Green End pond is losing about 10 inches a week and water is flowing in from Lawton's valley, as well as being pumped from Paradise.

Wells on the Island are lower now than they have been known to be for 30 years. The top of the ground is not unprecedently dry, which is accounted for by the fact that rains have been of short duration and water has run off instead of sinking in. Farmers are now carting water who have seldom if ever done so before. Mr. Dennis J. Murphy is supplying water to his more than 100 head of horses and cattle by carting it.

ON A MISKIANA CLUB OUTING.

It looked this afternoon as though there would be something "on" at the Miskiana Club, for a party of Newporters with some visitors from out of town went across to Wickford on the 1:05 trip of the General and others were expected to follow later. Dogs, guns and raiment for an outing were prominent features of the show when the party gathered at Long wharf. Among those present were Postmaster Burlingame, A. B. Commerford, Colonel J. H. Wetherell, W. B. Vernon, George F. Cozzens, Clark Burdick, E. S. Peckham and H. L. Dyer. Some went for a few days, others for a week. The shooting season is on and that is why dogs and guns were carried.

Union Pacific was almost the sole standard issue to manifest any moderate strength. Other leaders were apparently under slight pressure. DANCE FOR THE GERMANS.

Naval Officers Entertain Many Guests, Including Summer Residents, at War College.

The officers of the Naval Station, Narragansett bay, including the Naval War College, Naval Training Station, Torpedo Station and naval hospital, gave a dance in the War College building Friday evening in honor of the officers of German cruiser Victoria Louise. The guests included not only the officers attached to the army and navy stations about Newport and their wives and daughters, but also many of the summer visitors who are still in their cottages and permanent residents of Newport. Captain Frey and a majority of the German officers were present to accept the hospitality of the Americans.

The dance took place in the meeting room of the General Board, which was elaborately decorated with German and American flags, signal flags and bunting and illuminated with electrical effects. The guests were received by Mrs. Caperton, wife of Captain William B. Caperton, commanding the Naval Station, Narragansett Bay, and the Second Naval District, who was assisted by Mrs. Williams, wife of Commander George W. Williams, inspector in charge of the Torpedo Station, and Miss Caperton. Mrs. Caperton wore a French gown of purple chiffon embroidered with rhinestones and silver with touches of cerise over white satin. Mrs. Williams's costume was of white satin in Princess effect with pearl trimmings. Miss Caperton wore a gown of pale pink chiffon embroidered in crystal and trimmed with pink rosebuds and touches of geranium pink, with an under dress of white satin.

During the dancing light refreshments were served and at midnight there was a supper in the adjoining rooms. The Training Station band in full naval uniforms furnished music for the dancing.

The dance was arranged by a committee consisting of Lieutenant Commander Rufus Z. Johnston and Paymaster William N. Hughes of the Naval Training Station, Lieutenant W. B. Rye of the Naval War College, Lieutenant Frederick V. McNair and Surgeon Moulton K. Johnson of the Torpedo Station and Assistant Surgeon R. A. Bachmann and Passed Assistant Surgeon Kent C. Melhorn of the naval hospital.

ON A MORE ELABORATE SCALE.

Aborn English Grand Opera Company Extending Its Tour to a Few Smaller Cities.

For its coming engagement here the Aborn English Grand Opera Company has selected in "Madam Butterfly" an attractive offering for music lovers. This organization, now making its fourth general tour of America, is on a still larger and more elaborate scale this year, as a result of the encouragement it has received.

Up to last season the company had limited its ventures to only a few of the very large cities, in each of which it had long engagements each year. It continues to maintain its annual seasons in English, preceding or following the engagements of the Metropolitan, the Chicago-Philadelphia and the Boston Opera Companies in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Chicago, and between its fall and spring seasons in those places it makes a tour of a limited number of other cities.

ELAINE DE SELLEM, CONTRALTO.

The Aborn roster on tour embraces an array of evenly distributed talent, instead of one or two particular stars, in which are two singers of each classification, one appearing at one performance and the other at the next, so that each is heard only four times a week.

Other members of the Grand Encampment also spoke.

From the lodge room the party adjourned to Wahl's restaurant, where a special supper had been prepared and for two hours had a merry time. The menu comprised:

ACCIDENT UNAVOIDABLE.

Verdict of Coroner McMahon After Inquest into Death of James F. Cruickshank.

Coroner Andrew K. McMahon has filed his report of the inquest into the cause of the death of James F. Cruickshank, who died at the Newport Hospital as the result of the collision of an automobile with a motorcycle which the deceased was riding. The coroner finds that death was due to an unavoidable accident.

This occurred on Catherine street September 22, the automobile, which Mr. Augustus Jay was operating, striking the motor cycle and throwing Mr. Cruickshank to the ground. The latter died from a fracture of the skull. Mr. Jay endeavored to avoid the collision, but was caught in a pocket by another automobile and was unable to prevent his machine striking the motor cycle.

POLICE NOTES.

The police had a boy in today charged with stealing a basket of grapes valued at 15 cents from a store on the lower part of Thames street. Some other boys assisted in eating the grapes, and then this lad was arrested charged with taking them in broad daylight.

A man who was on probation was surrender by the probation officer and was sent to the workhouse for six months.

The patrol was called to the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association Friday evening to serve as an ambulance. A young man who came here to enlist and who belongs in New Jersey was taken ill and the doctor who was summoned decided that the man should go to the hospital. As the ambulance was busy at the time the patrol was used and the man reached the hospital in safety.

PLANS FOR EVENING SCHOOLS.

Sessions to Begin Monday and Classes to be Conducted in the Usual Manner.

The public evening schools will begin their sessions Monday and will be conducted on a plan similar to that followed in recent years. The report of the committee on evening schools, made to the board at its recent meeting, covers the entire matter in detail and is as follows:

To the Honorable Public School Committee:

Your committee on evening schools respectively submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, That on Monday evening, October 21, 1912, evening schools for men and women shall be opened for 20 weeks, to be divided as follows: The first term of 10 weeks closing Friday, December 20, 1912, and the second term of 10 weeks beginning Monday, December 30, 1912, and closing Friday, March 7, 1913, unless the attendance shall so fall off as to justify, in the opinion of the committee on evening schools, an earlier closing of said schools.

Resolved, That the elementary schools shall be in session on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays of each week and that the following teachers shall be employed as needed in the order given: Clarence A. Carr, Jeannette H. Swasey, Mary L. Brayton and Lillian J. Trager; and that they receive $1.75 per evening with the exception of Miss Swasey and Mr. Carr, Miss Swasey to receive $2 per evening and Mr. Carr $3 per evening.

Resolved, That on Mondays and Fridays classes for mechanical drawing and double-entry bookkeeping shall be in session, that Alfred R. C. Gatzenmeier shall be the teacher of the mechanical drawing at $3 per evening, and that William S. Brownell shall be the teacher of bookkeeping at $3 per evening.

Resolved, That a class of freehand drawing shall be in session on Wednesdays, in charge of Lula Z. Roderick, at $3 per evening.

Resolved, That a class in stenography and typewriting shall be in session on Mondays and Fridays, in charge of Mrs. M. A. Ford, at $3 per evening, with Miss M. F. O'Hanley as assistant, if she is needed, at 75 cents per evening; that those who wish to enter this class must register in advance at the office of the school department. As home study is necessary, $1 must be deposited for a text-book. This money will be refunded if the book is returned in good condition. These two subjects are high school studies and therefore a grammar school education or its equivalent will be given the preference.

Resolved, That a class in iron and machine work shall be in session on Wednesdays and Fridays, in charge of E. The Board of Aldermen met Friday evening to make the third canvass of the voting lists. Mayor Boyle presided and all the members were present; also, some of the politicians, to see how things went on. The members had some changes to make and the city clerk had a number of which he had made note from time to time, and which were submitted to the board for action. These were grouped into lists as follows: Names to be stricken from the lists, to be added to the lists, changes from registry or personal property to real estate, changes in addresses. The various lists were approved finally and the city clerk was ordered to make the changes.

This is the last which will be posted until the final lists are out for the election. Besides the canvass meeting Friday there will be another Friday night of next week, and a final canvass October 30. If corrections, changes of address, etc., are necessary voters should notify the city clerk's office or the Aldermen from their ward, so that corrections may be made.

FOR PUTTING UP A SIGN.

Dental Manager Submits to Arrest and is Held for Trial.

Some Questions as to Wording of the Ordinance and Test Case Brought.

Melvin O. Rockefeller manager for Dr. T. J. King, was before the court this morning on a warrant charging him with the erection of a sign on the Morgan-Newton building on Thames street, contrary to the building ordinance. He pleaded not guilty and gave bail for appearance for trial October 25.

It appears that Dr. King engaged Heffernan & Kempton of Providence to put up a sign for him and the police objected. Attorney M. A. Sullivan, who is a member of the commission on the revision of the ordinances, was called in by the representatives of dentistry and claimed that under the latest revision of the ordinances passed there was no legal objection to the placing of the sign as proposed, as it is a metal sign.

An arrangement was made for a test of what is and what is past and gone, and the sign was put in place. Mr. Rockefeller assisting in the erection so that a personal complaint might be made against him an dnot against the erectors of the sign or Dr. King. This gave the police some one right here in the city to arrest and prosecute if the sign was put up contrary to the ordinance.

Section 200 of the original building ordinance says: "Signs of wood shall not be erected over two feet high on any building." Last January this was amended, as it did not appear to be quite plain what had been intended and did not meet the condition sought. The amendment reads:

"No person shall hereafter erect, place or cause to be placed any sign of any kind of material whatsoever, unless the same shall be placed parallel with some building and secured thereto, and not projecting from such building to which it shall be secured more than six inches into or over any public highway or street; provided that nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the marking, painting or printing upon any awning constructed according to law."

This seemed to release the prohibition of the erection of signs on top of buildings, which other places have found to be objectionable, and which in New York are declared to be a fire menace, though they may be entirely of iron. Last spring an out-of-town corporation caused to be erected on top of the Weaver building on Broadway a big sheet iron sign on a wooden framework. The building inspector found that he had no law to apply and asked the Representative Council to meet the issue. This was done June 20 by passing another amendment to section 200, which read the same as the original law relative to wooden signs over two feet in height. In addition it was provided that the amendment should take effect immediately.

The question now arises whether the first amendment really did strike out the reference to signs on top of buildings, and if it did whether the second amendment strikes out the clause regulating swinging and other signs attached to the sides of buildings. Some of the councilmen say they did not understand the wording and felt that it would be better to have the matter go until the meaning could be made definite, as it seemed to be the desire that both classes of signs be restricted. The court will probably have given the case a hearing before the next meeting of the Council and if the law is defective there will be ample opportunity for the members to know about it.
